Narciso Koman

Motorman @ Hexagon EG | Process technician | Marine technician
Bata, Litoral, Equatorial Guinea

Summary

As a motorman at Hexagon EG, I am responsible for the day-to-day maintenance of engines on an oil rig. I work with the engine officers to perform preventive maintenance and minor repairs, ensuring the optimal operation and safety of the equipment. I have been in this role for over eight years, and I have gained valuable experience in plant operations, multitasking, and routine maintenance.

I hold a degree in Hispanic Philology and Economic Sciences from the National University of Equatorial Guinea, and a certification as a process technician from ITNHGE. I am fluent in Spanish, English, and French, and I have a certificate of English proficiency issued by Duolingo English Test. I am motivated by learning new skills, working in a team, and contributing to the success of the company.
