Special OSM Appraisal for ADENYO GEORGE NICHOLAS 11 Feb 2013.

During our Director of Operations to visit SVS Morgan on the 06 Jan 2013 to discuss crew discontent, I was tasked to assess our mess man's ability to be promoted to the position of a vessel's cook within SVS. As I am leaving the vessel on the 16 Feb here is my appraisal of Nicolas. Captain Yanakiev with complete a SOME 15.26 when Nicolas sign's off in March.

Nicholas's conduct has been highly professional during his last 6 weeks on board the Morgan. He has ability to cook well and will always turn out well prepared, tasty and well-proportioned meals whether it is breakfast, lunch or evening dinner. He has stepped up to take on full cooking responsibilities twice when our cook Petov had to be stood down from his duties due to illness. During this period the Captain allowed him free run of the Galley and he performed admirably. During this period he single handily ran the Galley for a 3 day period and a further 48 hours respectively. He remained focus and kept up high professional standards throughout. At present and since his embarkation back in Oct Nicolas has sheared the cooking duties on SVS Morgan.

Nicolas can prepare Western and African foods well and will cater for all crew palate's, this is vital when we have embarked Kenyan or Tanzania Navy personnel on-board and also for African crew members.

He fluent in English and is English literate. Nicolias is always well turned out and he takes pride in his appearance, always wearing chef whites, a chef's hat and safety shoes when performing his duties.

He has been given notional food orders to prepare by Captain Yanakeiv and these have been correct in relation to being in budget and quantities for the crew so he has proved he can place well budgeted food orders.

During our resent food resupply in Mombasa on 26 Jan Nicolas's expertise in communicating with the Kenyan Chandlers was invaluable as he checked the quality of stock, asked questions on the amounts and directed the ship's crew on the placement of the different commodities. The loading of foodstuffs and water went smoothly through Nicolas efforts and direction.

He is in my opinion Nicolas is ready to be a chef and I would gladly see with him as my cook when embarked on a vessel.
