I'm a Master/OIM with 15+ years offshore leading DP-2 OSV/DSV operations in West Africa. For SEPLAT* Ex Exxon Mobil/Upstream Nigeria I work strictly under the Marine Operations Guide and WMS interface: 500 m zone controls, MOG checklists, SIMOPS and PTW/LOTO bridged to the vessel SMS. On DSV PRINCE JAMESON I (ABS-classed DP-2 with Huisman 120 t crane, 920 m² deck, 100 bunks, Super Puma/S-92 helideck) I coordinate supply/energy support, diving spreads and ROV/IRM, maintain DP assurance per the vessel DP Ops Manual, and act as HLO with a CAP-437-aligned helideck. My focus is stability/ballast, pre-task risk assessment, emergency readiness, incident reporting, and security—always with Stop-Work authority and client reporting

Company rules I operate under

• Upstream Nigeria Marine Operations Guide: SSH&E, 500 m zone, cargo/bulk handling, DP/SIMOPS sections, and the full checklist suite.
MARINE_OPERATIONS_GUIDE_2019_-_...

• WMS / Bridging with SEPLAT: roles & responsibilities (OIM, Marine Rep, Master/DPO), comms, risk, emergency, security, personnel transfer.

Vessel-specific (Prince Jameson I)

• DP-2 DSV, ABS notation, LOA ~100 m with helideck, 920 m² deck, 120-t Huisman crane; configured for IRM/diving support and offshore supply.
SHIP PARTICULARS

• Diving interface: responsibilities, live-boating limits, DP status gates, emergency drills and documentation per Dive Ops Manual.
Dive Operation Manual Supply / Energy support scope (what I actually do)

• Risk & “exploding” hazards (your word): manage ignition risk/ATEX zones near flares, hot-work through PTW, ESD interfaces, and gas monitoring.

• 500 m zone: entry/exit controls, safe headings, separation limits, and immediate stop-work if weather/sea state or equipment degrades.

• Emergency & security: muster/abandon ship, medevac, spill & incident reporting, piracy/lock-down procedures.

What I bring as Master/OIM

• Stability & ballast control (pre-load, deck loading), JSA/TRA leadership, toolbox talks, daily client reports, and multi-national crew management in Nigeria.
